

Signals of Confusion

- The voice inside the reader's head isn't interacting with the text.
- The camera inside the reader's head shuts off.
- The reader's mind begins to wander.
- The reader can't remember what has been read.
- Clarifying questions asked by the reader are not answered.
- The reader reencounters a character and has no recollection when that character was introduced.